

PTF Names 2019 Junior Team to visit England

June 17, 2019

The PTF is proud to announce the team that will travel to England in July 2019. Players are selected from a pool of applicants who have participated in PTF training programs over the previous year. The PTF, founded in 1967 to help grow the sport of polo with an emphasis on youth, continues its mission through its many successful programs including junior player and umpire clinics and tournaments throughout North America.

Annually, the Hurlingham Polo Association hosts a PTF Team during the English Summer Season, while the PTF hosts an HPA England Flannels Junior Team during the Florida Winter season. This year will mark the 6th annual home and home exchange with the HPA. A PTF team visits England in July arriving in time to see the finals of the Gold Cup at Cowdray Park Polo Club, and departing after the International Cup, played at the Royal County of Berkshire Polo Club.

Players are selected based on several criteria including playing ability, ability to ride unfamiliar horses, and a strong emphasis on ambassadorial skills.

This year's team is as follows:

Matteo is a senior at Dwight-Englewood School in Englewood, NJ, where he also lives. He is excited to begin looking for colleges and wants to major in fashion design. Since 10 years of age, Matteo always wanted to play interscholastic polo and compete in places like Cornell, Texas A&M, and UVA. Matteo participates in PTF and USPA clinics and tournaments because he loves the competitiveness and team co-operation of polo more than anything. When Matteo is not playing polo, he loves to spend time with his family and play soccer for his school
